Automate Cloud Migration & Modernize Applications

Matilda Migrate helps clients design, build, and execute successful migrations to any cloud. Matilda Migrate transforms migration into a fully automated, documented, and secure process.

Do you face these challenges?

- Identifying the best applications to migrate to the cloud, and the ones best not to migrate
- Executing your cloud migration in the shortest possible amount of time
- Executing your cloud migration at the least amount of cost
- Choosing the best target cloud provider and environment for your application
- Properly sizing your target cloud resources to effectively support your applications and to then minimize your cloud operating costs
- Understanding the security vulnerabilities of your applications before they are migrated to the cloud
- Understanding how much time and money it is going to take to migrate an application before the migration process begins
- Ensuring that the applications that you migrate operate and perform as you need them to in the target cloud environment

Matilda Migrate Can Help by:

- Discovering all active and inactive applications in your environment
- Determining the complete execution environment of each application
- Determining all of the components and dependencies for each application including dependencies upon hardware and software infrastructure and other applications.
- Determining the resource requirements for each application
- Producing a template for each application that contains the complete infrastructure as code blueprint for how it is provisioned in the cloud
- Automatically customizing that template so that it is optimal for the deployment of the application in Amazon AWS, Microsoft Azure, Google GCP, or the Oracle Cloud
- Fully automating the actual migration of each application to the target cloud environment
- Fully automating the migration of a cloud hosted application to a different cloud provider if you choose to do so later
